DEATH BEFORE DISHONOR

DON DIVA MAGAZINE is a (puritan) magazine-regarded as excessively strict in morals. We've been entrusted with the responsibility of conveying the life stories of these individuals who are very skeptical of the media. By society's standards they are considered gangsters, kingpins, killers and using today's slang trap stars. Whatever they are called they are the best at what they allegedly did. Don Diva is highly regarded by these individuals because we don't exploit them, their thoughts or misrepresent their words. We just provide a platform for them to express themselves and to be heard.

Long before there was a Puff or Jay Z to depict trends and personify "balling"- there were their predecessors, the individuals whose lives weren't televised by mainstream. They were the architects of this lifestyle called the game. These homies moved through their perspective hoods with the confidence and swagger of superstars. They drove the finest automobiles, sported exotic jewels, wore the most stylish garments, and were chosen by nothing but dimes. Respect was par the course for a player of this stature-the "orchestrators" of the hood. They created the beat and rhythm most vibe too with the stage being our hood- reality TV 24/7/365. They were the trendsetters of their time. It's no coincidence that their presence is still felt in our hoods till this very day and their lifestyles often rapped about by prominent rappers of multi platinum status.

The flip side of this coin is the view that some in society has of such individuals. Law enforcement and the likes despise them and consider them despicable; the worst of the worst and deserving of every second in jail that they've received. However these men are viewed, they have accepted their fate, stood as men amongst men. They never wavered from their principles, honor, integrity or the moral code of the lifestyle they chose. These men have paid their debt to society with their most prized possession- their lives!

Loved by many hated by some but respect by ALL....

MDC Brooklyn

I am awaiting trial for a RICO case involving the alleged CMB gang out of Lafayette Gardens, Brooklyn, New York. I have been locked up for 15. Since the beginning the government has asked me to cooperate, but I continued to tell them "No" and I informed them that I don't know anything about my co-defendant Damion "world" Hardy but they refuse to believe me. A lot of people cooperate or refuse to go to trial and snitched just to save t heir own ass- not me and I don't condone snitching in any way. Even though I am facing a lot of time if I blow trial I believe in keeping it real until they put me in a field. ⑩

13 MEMBERS OF BROOKLYN-BASED GANG 'CASH MONEY BROTHERS' INDICTED FOR RACKETEERING

STATES NEWS SERVICE - 7/19/2005

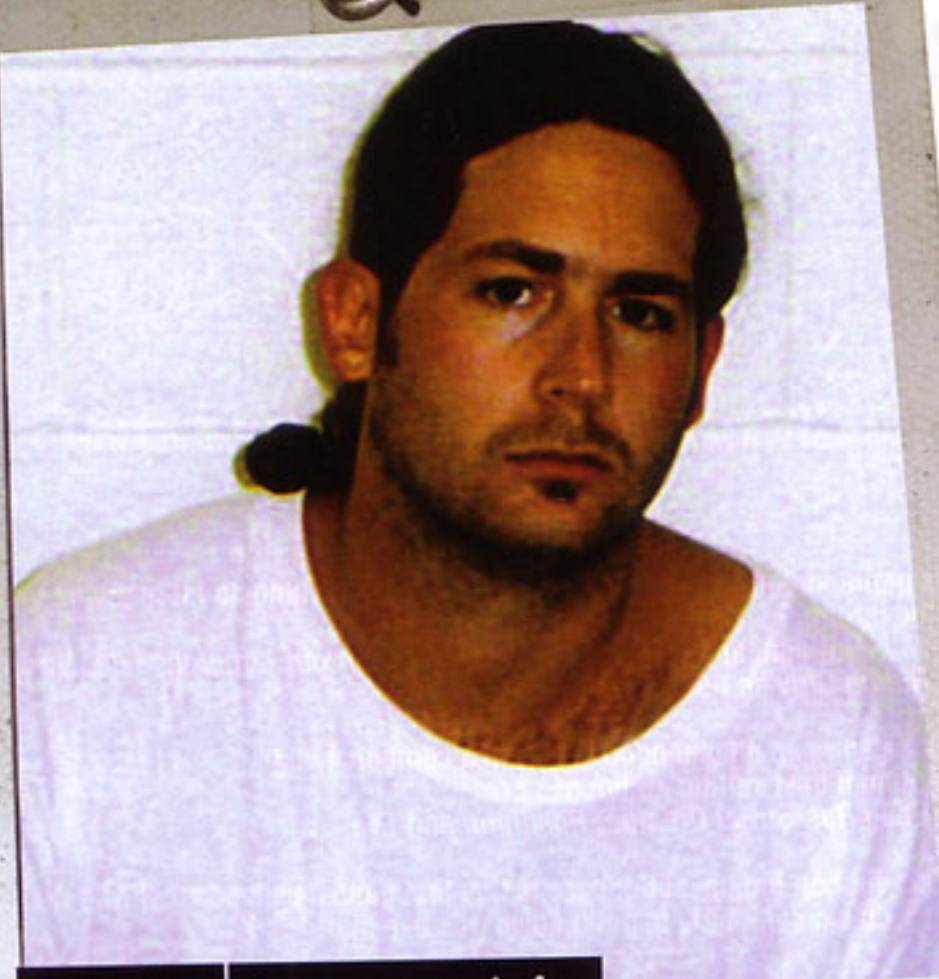

The following information was released by the U.S. Department of Justice: United States Attorney for the Eastern District of New York, MARTIN D. FICKE, Special Agent-in-Charge, Department of Homeland Security, U. S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement, New York ("ICE"), RAYMOND W. KELLY, Commissioner, New York City Police Department, and...

I was 20 years old when I got busted. I never figured that my life would take this route but after being sentence to almost 25 years at age 22 I have been forced to deal with the consequences of my actions. Not that I'm saying the punishment fits the crime because it doesn't. However like I learned when I first started fucking around with drugs at age 13, if you're gonna do the crime then you gotta do the time. You can't point your finger at the next man. Still most do. But for me it's a matter of being able to look myself in the mirror and asking myself, could I live with myself by making someone else's family cry? And for me the answer has always been no. But that's just me. I'm not here to enforce my ideals on the next man. They have to make that decision for themselves. I was a twenty year old first-time non-violent offender from the suburbs and I took mine and got cracked in the head as a result. But 14 years in I'm still doing it. Not like I'm some tough guy or go hard killer convict. Its Just a state of mind. I can't scam you, beat you, cheat you, take advantage of you or snitch on you. That's just how I carry it. All I got are my word and my balls. And my word is bond. ⑩

HEAD OF FAIRFAX LSD RING ARRESTED IN ST. LOUIS MOTEL

THE WASHINGTON POST - 10/2/1993

Nearly two years after faking his suicide, the leader of a ring that provided LSD to Fairfax County high school students was arrested yesterday in Missouri after police caught him once again with drugs, authorities said. Seth Michael Ferranti, 21
